FL Studio 10 What's New?

100's of improvements, additions & bugfixes featuring:

64 Bit Plugin Support - The Wrapper now automatically detects 64 bit plugins and opens them in 64 Bit 'Bridged' mode (see below).

'New Pattern' (+) Button - On the Channel Window / Step Sequencer. Add a Pattern and open the naming window.

Small Scrollbars in Editors - Smaller scrollbar for the Piano roll, Event Editor, Playlist etc. See F10 > General Settings.

Horizontal Zoom - Improved Playlist, Piano roll & Event Editor.

Improved Memory Management - Two changes have been made to lower demands on FL Studio's memory allocation. 1. 32 & 64 Bit VST plugins can be opened in 'Bridged' mode. The maximum memory available to the plugin will be at least 2 Gb for 32 Bit Windows and up to 192 Gb depending on your version of 64 Bit Windows. 2. Audio Clips & Sampler Channels Keep on disk option now opens the sample in a separate memory allocation. Each Audio Clip / Sampler Channel can now load a sample of at least 2 Gb for 32 Bit & 64 Bit Windows versions.

Improved Audio Options - ASIO: 'Mix in bufferswitch' and 'Triple buffer' may improve performance with some ASIO drivers. ASIO/Primary Sound: Revised 'Playback tracking' options to help with alignment of visual & recorded events where soundcard problems exist.

Autosave / Autobackup - FL Studio can now be set to back up the current project at 5 to 15 minute intervals. Never lose project data again!

FL Studio Fruity Edition - Now gains access to Playlist Pattern Clips for unlimited scoring and automation flexibility.

Revised Playlist - All new playlist to lay out and structure your songs with ease.

Piano Roll - A major update to the piano roll for more functionality.

Mixer - Larger mixer view & waveform metering - The Mixer View options include 'Wide tracks' and 'Waveforms'. Also fully automatic PDC - The default for new projects, automatic Plugin Delay Compensation updates the PDC settings when changes are detected.

New Plugins - New Tone & Pitcher are brand new vocal plugins that help create perfect vocals.
