"Must I stop?" the girl asked. "I'm having the most wonderful dream." "Finish the dream," he said. "Thank you." In a few minutes she breathed very deeply and shook her head and sat up. "Let's go in now," she said. They went in together and swam out and then played under water like porpoises. When they swam in they dried each other off with towels and he handed her the bottle of wine that was still cool in the rolled newspaper and they each took a drink and she looked at him and laughed. "It's nice to drink it for thirst," she said. "You don't really mind being brothers do you?". "No." He touched her forehead and her nose and then her cheeks and chin with the oil and then put it carefully above and behind her ears. "I want to get behind my ears and neck tanned and over my cheekbones. All the new places." "You're awfully dark, brother," he said. "You don't know how dark." "I like it," the girl said. "But I want to be darker." They lay on the beach on the firm sand that was dry now but still cool after the high tide had fallen. The young man put some oil on the palm of his hand and spread it lightly with his fingers over the girl's thighs and they glowed warm as the skin took the oil. He went on spreading it over her belly and breasts and the girl said sleepily, "We don't look very much like brothers when we're this way do we?" "No." "I'm trying to be such a very good girl," she said. "Truly you don't have to worry darling until night. We won't let the night things come in the day."
