Happy Wednesday everyone!

I just thought I'd do my Hubie Sounds promo a little earlier than usual as I've got an extra special show in store for you next week, so here's an early heads up...

Next Tuesday I'm going to be dedicating the entire show to The Chemical Brothers, or more specifically, to the best remixes of their work to date. It's more or less a year since Tom and Ed released their seventh studio album Further, and to celebrate, a group of dedicated fans and members of the Chemical Brothers Official Forum have pooled their resources and remixed each track of that album as part of the Further Remixed project.

You can download this album for free, along with specially created artwork and various other bonus tracks. For more information check out the Further Remixed website here: <http://furtherremixed.org/>

I will be showcasing this album in its entirety during my show, along with a selection of my favourite Chems tracks remixed by other artists, such as Sasha's remix of Out Of Control, The Micronauts remix of Block Rockin' Beats, Dave Clarke's remix of Chemical Beats, and many more! This show will be a must for all you Chemical fans out there, not to mention fans of electronic music in general!

Hubie Sounds Chemical Brothers Remixed Special – Tuesday 26th of July @ 9pm UK time – live and direct on NSB Radio!
