If you don't know Datsik by now, you best be learning. Datsik has been taking the dubstep scene by storm, blowing up dance floors around the globe with his original style of hip-hop future-tech bangers. In 2009 alone, Datsik had over 7 number one releases on Beatport, and vinyl sales through the roof on many other sites such as Chemical Records, Red-Eye and Juno. Aside from that, he has also done remixes for some of the biggest names in the scene such as the Crystal Method, Freestylers, Bassnectar, Noisia, Diplo, the Wu-tang Clan, and Apex from the critically acclaimed Lifted Music label; not to mention countless collaborations with some of the hottest producers in the scene. With multiple anthems under his belt, countless plays from some of the biggest DJ's, and an endless perseverance to reach that next step, it is safe to say that Datsik has proven himself to be one of the best dubstep artists around... and he is here to stay.

DELTA HEAVY

Battering down the doors of the genre elitists come a pair of producers plucked from the ranks of Ram's new generation of incredible music making talents. In a little over a year Delta Heavy, or Si James and Ben Hall to their mums, have already proven their drum & bass metal with a succession of heavy-hitting original tracks.

They met at university in Nottingham and after several years of hard work, their production efforts resulted in their debut drum&bass release on Viper's acclaimed 'Acts of Mad Men' compilation in June 2009. A track in the urban thriller 'Harry Brown,' (which featured the sound track by Chase & Status) and several dubstep and house remixes followed in quick succession.

Signed to Ram in early 2010, their debut single 'Space Time / Take The Stairs' was nominated as Best Track at the 2010 Drum&BassArena Awards as well as nominations for Best Producer and Best Newcomer DJ. Hitting number 1 across all the download stores, 'Space Time' was undoubtedly one of the biggest d&b tracks of that year.

With a rammed out DJ schedule for the rest of 2011, a February and March 2012 tour of Australia, USA and Canada plus some of the most exciting music to emerge from such a new act in recent years in the form of an EP for Ram in the first quarter of the year, Delta Heavy are two guys who won't be disappearing from your wave lengths any time soon.

BARE NOIZE

Bare Noize have become some of the world's most sought after producers since their early work in 2009. Instantly you could see that their combined multiple instrument skills, audio engineering and an ear from precision production were going to lay the foundation for them quickly becoming a formidable contender in the electronic producer scene. Their development and consistent drive for improving technique and sound quality can be seen through their initial discography. Tracks such as 'Chucky' 2009 and 'Filth LummoX' established them as one's to watch amongst an evolving breed of producers within dub step's more technical variant. With all eyes on the London based production duo the Foreign Beggars asked them to remix Medison feat. Skrein for their imprint Dented which led to one of the biggest Dubstep anthems of 2010 'Harry'.

2012 will see Bare Noize raise the bar even higher with the release their eagerly awaited EP, embark upon their debut tours of USA, Australia, New Zealand and Asia and development of their stage show is already in production.
